The area received over a foot of blowing snow overnight with winds up to 50mph. The father of one of the subjects came to check on them Wednesday morning and got his vehicle stuck in the snow drifts blocking access to the trailhead. The road was impassable.

Dog teams on search: One SARDOC dog team with support (all LCSAR) was stood down prior to fielding as the missing subjects self-recovered and were assisted by park personnel.

March 23, 2016

Location: Lake George, Park County, CO

Subjects: Six males in their 20s. Subjects decided to go hiking/camping on Tuesday, 3/22, in spite of weather report. No map, no idea of where they were or where they were leaving their cars. It snowed 1 foot overnight, at least, while they were camping in tents and hammocks. They called for help on Wed, said they had hiked to the first fork and then bushwhacked a few miles, and then their phone immediately died.

Dog teams on search: Two SARDOC dog teams (Park County SAR) responded.

Mission: One dog team drove around in a RZR OHV and did spot checks. If the dog had interest, the team would try to drive further in that direction and get the dog out again. The inversion layer, cold, and fact that they had been there for two days, made the scent lay low in the drainages. The dog had nose pops towards lower drainages but then would choose the other direction uphill. Going on foot would have taken too long and we had no idea where the subjects had hiked since they didn't know. The OHV approach was the best method and a good learning experience.

Subjects were found by team members on snowmobiles who drove all the way to the summer TH, then up a side camping trail and walked to the top of a knob and made voice contact. Subjects did have a fire, and teams were getting puffs of smoke smell while searching. One subject was possibly mildly hypothermic. They all were in cotton clothing, etc. The dog team helped transport all of the subjects ~3 miles out to command post.

March 25, 2016

Location: Moab Overlook, Loop Road, Grand County, Utah

Subject: a forty-five-year-old female who was depressed and suicidal. Subject's car located, but the subject was not in it. She had called a friend to say she was killing herself, had taken "some pills", and was feeling dizzy and faint.

May 22, 2016
